Gimme shelter, gimme a break

Shelter bus transcript. TTC driver put up a protest when asked to dump passengers to pick up Ford's team

TTC Transit Control wanted Carol Holgate to declare her Finch West bus out of service, kick about 50 passengers to the curb, and hurry to an Etobicoke high school.

"I can't," Holgate responded. "I have a full bus. Do you want these people to lynch me?"

The Transit Control staffer told her there were three buses right behind her. She was unswayed. "Why me?" she said. "Why did you pick my bus?" Told that her bus was the only option, she said, "Can't I refuse?"

"No," a Transit Control staffer said. "It's a shelter (bus), it's an emergency, we have to do it right away."

Holgate's reluctance to inconvenience paying customers is one of several revelations in a TTC-produced transcript of calls related to the controversial incident involving Mayor Rob Ford's football team. The transcript provides the most complete explanation yet available of what actually happened on the chaotic and heavily scrutinized afternoon of Nov. 1.

It does not, however, include the two most intriguing calls: Those from Ford to the cellphone of TTC chief executive Andy Byford.

The first Ford call, in which he and Byford had a conversation Byford has described as "garbled," was not recorded, unlike the calls involving Transit Control and other TTC departments. The TTC says the second Ford call, a voice-mail message, "was deleted and cannot be retrieved from the server, as confirmed by Telus."

The transcript, obtained through freedom of information law, shows that the justification Ford offered for making the call was incorrect. Ford emphatically told reporters that he only called Byford because "there was a 20-minute delay" after the initial police call. Ford actually made his call less than nine minutes after the police call — and, at most, seconds after Holgate was told to head to the field, possibly even before she was contacted.

The incident occurred after a football game between Ford's Don Bosco Eagles at the campus of their Etobicoke rivals, the Father Henry Carr Crusaders.

Mississauga's LRT plan lacks funding

Facing the need for a drastic tax increase, Mississauga councillors are second-guessing their own plans for a $1.5-billion LRT to modernize the city and ease congestion.

Weak support for the project became apparent this week after staff proposed a 7.8-per-cent increase for the city's portion of the 2013 tax bill. Nowhere in the budget was there funding for the light-rail transit the city wants to build along its north-south spine, Hurontario Street.

Coun. George Carlson SUPPLIED

It's estimated the LRT would cost the city $500 million — a tough sell despite consensus the city desperately needs better transit.

"Nobody wants to get booted in the next election," said Coun. George Carlson. "If we even put $10 million to $15 million away a year, the very minimum needed, we wouldn't live long enough to put a dent into the $500 million we'll need for our share."

Downtown relief line, Yonge subway extension on deck

Transit. Metrolinx announces next phase of regional transportation plan

Toronto's downtown relief subway line (DRL) has moved up the line of regional transit priorities. But the much-anticipated announcement from Metrolinx on Thursday offered no specifics on how its construction will be funded.

The DRL was among nine projects, including a Yonge subway extension to Richmond Hill, that were announced as the Metrolinx's Big Move regional transportation plan.

Originally slated for the plan's 15 to 25-year horizon, the DRL has been moved up into consideration over the next 10 to 15 years, Metrolinx CEO Bruce McCuaig told about 300 business people at the Toronto Board of Trade. The rest of the "second wave" is to be done within a 20-year window of the start of construction.

The DRL is seen as critical to relieving pressure on the Yonge subway, already operating at crush capacity and expected to draw 25 per cent more riders by 2031. "While the relief line will be geographically located in the downtown area, its purpose is to open up possibilities throughout the region, such as the extension of the Yonge Line to Richmond Hill," McCuaig said.

TTC subway passengers are stopped at Wellesley Station in this file photo. In addition to the $16 billion already invested in Big Move projects across the region, Metrolinx CEO Bruce McCuaig has announced the next wave of projects, including a downtown relief line. DAVID COOPER/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE FILE

The precise route isn't known. But a recent TTC report showed it would likely extend south from the Danforth line, around Pape, then west along King or Queen to University Avenue. It could be extended west and up to the Bloor subway and as far north as Eglinton Avenue.

The 13-kilometre line would serve 107 million riders by 2031.

The cost, unofficially estimated at $7.4 billion, would be part of the $34-billion price McCuaig suggested the second wave would cost.

Minister warns teacher strikes may be stopped

Ontario Education Minister Laurel Broten warns that teachers may be forced back to work if they strike. MICHELLE SIU/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Elementary teachers will be ordered back to work if they strike, Education Minister Laurel Broten is warning.

Answering a December strike threat from the Elementary Teachers' Federation of Ontario, and a promised 72-hour notice for parents, Broten threatened to use the government's controversial Bill 115 to get them back in the classroom.

But she wouldn't say exactly how or when, suggesting the response would depend on what actions the union takes.

"My message to parents is if we find ourselves in that circumstance, and we hope we don't ... if we need to respond, we have the tools and we will."

Losing allies

"If they ... go on strike, it's going to take a very long time before they ever get my trust back."

Desmond Brown, a father of three

After months of teachers' job actions, from cancelled after-school clubs to terse report cards, a backlash is starting to grow among weary parents.

"It's going to cost us financially to find alternate arrangements," said Desmond Brown, a father of three. "I'm already unhappy with the job action they're taking," he added. "Can't they see they're only hurting our kids?

"Teachers are frustrated and I get that," said mother Unah Grieve, who had started a Facebook group against Bill 115 earlier this fall. "But are the unions waiting for a new government to come in to settle this?"

1.95% tax hike proposed

Changes. Council also aims to freeze the police force budget

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

City staff is proposing a 1.95 per cent residential property tax hike for 2013 — but if the Police Services Board can't convince the police force to accept a total budget freeze, that number will likely go up.

If approved, the 1.95 per cent tax hike in the draft budget released Thursday would mean an extra $48 for the "average" home, assessed at $474,366. The total tax for that home in 2013 would be $2,515.

City manager Joe Pennachetti said the draft budget approaches "fiscal sustainability," using just $47 million of reserve funds, while ending the city's reliance on prior years' surpluses, which should primarily go toward capital reserve.

The city faces a budget pressure of about $200 million of spending that was not covered by the tax base last year, based on the 2012 budget's use of reserve and prior year surplus funds.

The draft operating budget, including the recommended 1.95 per cent raise in property taxes, is contingent on police meeting the zero per cent growth target, which was required of all city departments.

The police budget is the largest expense in the city's operating budget, coming in at $927.8 million in the staff draft budget. Chief Bill Blair is asking for an extra $21 million and has warned that without that money the force will have to cut at least 137 officers and 32 civilians.

Budget chief Mike Del Grande said the police budget showdown was one of the reasons the mayor asked him to join the Police Services Board. He declined to say if laying off officers is worth the savings.

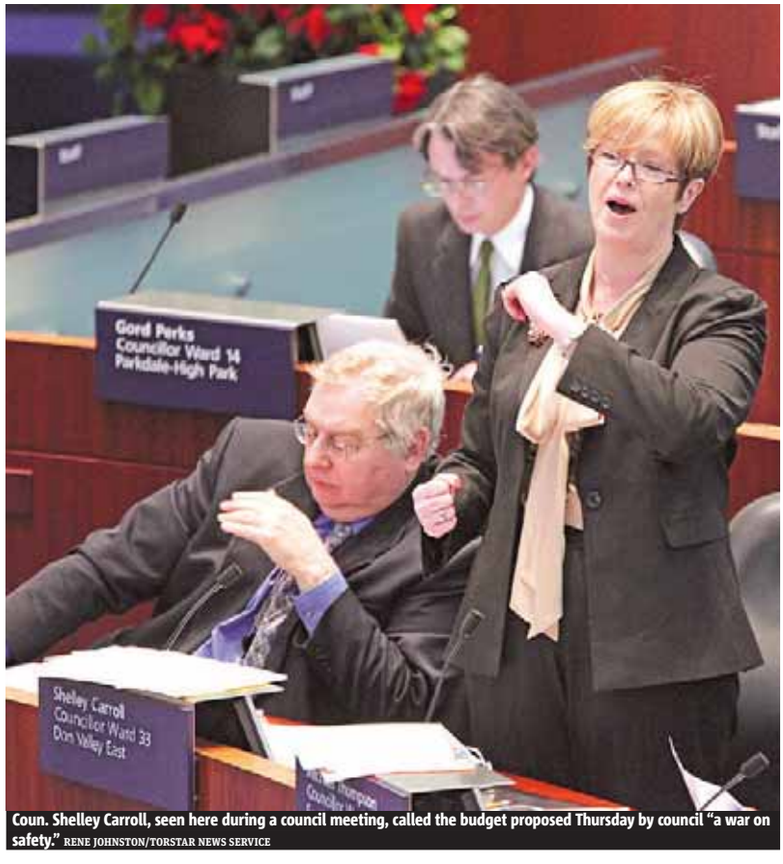
"I can't comment on that particular issue at this point," he said in a media scrum.

Coun. Shelley Carroll called the budget "a war on safety."

"So the war on the car is over and there's lots of money for the car in this budget and that's fine, except it would appear that Coun. Del Grande, the mayor and the mayor's brother are declaring a war on safety."

Carroll objected to firefighter personnel cuts and the pressure put on the police.

"All Torontonians want is to be safe," she said.



Coun. Shelley Carroll, seen here during a council meeting, called the budget proposed Thursday by council "a war on safety." RENE JOHNSTON/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Gains and losses

Firefighter positions cut: One of the largest areas where the city has found savings is the fire department. The draft budget eliminates 104 currently-vacant positions — 91 of them frontline firefighters — from the fire department, totalling a savings of $6.3 million. "I don't think there's any kind of significant impact on services," said City manager Joe Pennachetti. Ed Kennedy, president of the Toronto Professional Fire Fighters' Association, said the cuts would mean taking five trucks out of service and an increase in some response times.

Fixing the Gardiner: One of the biggest new expenditures in the recommended budget is fixing the crumbling Gardiner Expressway, at an estimated cost of $325 million, over the next 10 years. The spending would ensure the highway's survival for about 30 to 40 years, suggesting that council would be committed to its maintenance.

Home chef wins $25K on Recipe to Riches

Winning recipe. A Montreal Deli Style Dip, complete with caraway, corn beef and pickles

PHOEBE HO
toronto@metronews.ca

Cathy Ferguson's deconstructed Reuben sandwich dip went a long way from being the star of her family cookouts to landing on store shelves across the country.

Ferguson, a product merchandiser by day, was one of many amateur Canadian home cooks who submitted their recipe in hopes of landing a spot as one of the top three finalists in the new condiments and dips category on Food Network's Recipe to Riches.

It's not the first time she's auditioned for the show. Ferguson tried out last season, but didn't make the cut. This time she came back determined to win.

"I'd always thought, when I hit my 40s, I want to do something big, something that's totally outside my comfort zone," she says. "I came back the next year, all I wanted was that gold ticket, just validation that I had a good recipe."

Choosing to compete in the show's condiment and dips category proved to be the right choice for Ferguson. Her Montreal Deli Style Dip, complete with caraway, corn beef and pickles, made it through both the batch-up and product launch challenge.

"It's an experience that you can't really plan for," she says. "And I'm a planner. I went in with measurements ready to go 'cause I watched all last season. I thought nobody was going to be as organized or prepared as me. And apparently, I was told, I was the most disorganized and messiest person they've ever had. I was totally outside of my element and totally uncomfortable."

Ferguson's persistence and hard work, however, paid off. Her unique dip beat out the other two finalists on Wednesday's episode, and will be landing on store shelves across Canada on Dec. 1. She's now $25,000 richer, but it's only the beginning for her.

"I have two ideas in my head for future stuff, so it's definitely something I'd like to pursue," she says.

Winning contestants of each category will be competing for the $250,000 grand prize in the finale, which airs Dec. 12 at 9 p.m. ET/8 p.m. PT.

Recipe to Riches contestant Cathy Ferguson shows off her winning deli-style dip, available in stores beginning Dec. 1. LINKS INC./FOR METRO

Survey. Men's, women's shopping habits similar

The myth that women shop far more than men may officially be busted. Play Taxi Media, which runs a national network of touch screens in taxicabs, surveyed more than 8,000 riders (with an equal mix of men and women) about their shopping habits throughout September.

While 42 per cent of women said they spend more than $2,000 a year on clothes, men are nearly on par, with 37 per cent saying they spend the same. And while stereotypes assume men drop their cash only a few times a year, women have proven to be seasonal shoppers as well. Only 16 per cent of respondents said they go clothes shopping on a weekly basis, 32 per cent said they hit stores a couple times a month and a whopping 52 per cent said they go on seasonal splurges.

As for respondent's favourite stores: Winners is the top department store, with 40 per cent choosing it over The Bay, Holt Renfrew and Sears. And while spendthrift women lean toward Club Monaco and Michael Kors, the bigger spenders among men prefer Banana Republic and Lucky Brand.

VISIBLE, EFFECTIVE MANAGEMENT KEY TO MODERNIZING THE TTC

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

Two weeks ago, I talked about the importance of motivated, well-managed staff in delivering improved customer service.

Point eight in our 10-point plan to modernize the TTC calls for "visible, effective management." This may seem obvious, but I believe we must do a lot better in the way we manage the TTC and in the management culture that influences staff behaviour and, ultimately, customer satisfaction.

One of the first changes I made as CEO was to hold executive team meetings at various TTC workplaces, rather than maintain the previous practice of only meeting at our head office. By spending more time in the field, my executives and I get to experience the service, find out what really goes on and, critically, get to meet, thank and acknowledge staff and managers at the frontline of the business.

Of course, there is far more to effective management than mere visibility. We must progressively up our game to run the TTC more efficiently and effectively, and to put customer service and safety as our top priorities. This may require new blood to give us fresh perspectives, and it calls for an overhauled, more motivational management style that gets the best out of our people while driving up standards and performance.

We are currently recruiting a team of Group Station Managers, or GSMs, to transform our management of the subway. Based on a long-established concept at the London Underground, GSMs and their teams are empowered to deliver improved standards of customer service, station ambience and safety within their area of control, including bus and streetcar platforms at stations. Being a GSM was the best job I ever had when I was at the Tube; I am convinced that such a concept is needed to modernize the way we serve you.

TTC STUFF-THE-BUSES COLLECTING NEW, UNWRAPPED TOYS

On Saturday, Dec. 1, and Sunday, Dec. 2, TTC employees will be holding the annual Stuff-the-Bus toy drive at participating Walmart stores across Toronto. The TTC Stuff-the-Bus toy drive hopes to raise more than $60,000 worth of donations for the Canadian Centre for Abuse Awareness. A TTC bus will be parked at each of these eight Walmart stores from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days:

BLOOR-DANFORTH LINE CLOSED FROM KEELE TO KIPLING STATIONS FOR TTC TRACK WORK This weekend, the TTC will be closing a portion of the Bloor-Danforth line from Kipling to Keele Stations for scheduled track construction. Frequent, accessible shuttle buses will operate from Kipling to Keele Stations. Since Keele is not an accessible station, a Wheel-Trans bus will be stationed at Dundas West Station to assist customers who require an accessible subway station. The state-of-good-repair work involves the full replacement of the crossover and the associated stone, steel and ties, which have reached the end of their in-service life.

DID YOU KNOW?

REQUEST STOP PROGRAM

Any TTC customer who is travelling alone by bus between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. can take advantage of the TTC's Request Stop program. Simply advise the operator at least one TTC stop ahead of where you would like to exit the bus. Customers must exit by the front door; the rear doors will remain closed. Please note that the operator must be able to stop the bus safely to meet the request.

Fashion crime takes on new meaning

Alleged modelling scam. Mississauga businessman arrested after Ottawa woman mounts YouTube campaign

JOE LOFARO
Metro in Ottawa

A Mississauga businessman accused of luring actors and models into fake TV contracts and then vanishing after charging them a fee has been arrested. An Ottawa woman's campaign to bring the matter to light may have played a part in the investigation.

Toronto police say Saroor Hassan Zaidi, 36, turned himself in to police in Mississauga last Thursday. He faces 13 counts of fraud under $5,000 and two counts of fraud over $5,000. In an email to Metro on July 18, Zaidi denied any part in the alleged scam and any connection with Casting Toronto, one of the firms police say was involved.

The 15 victims believed to have been burned in the alleged scam reported a total loss of $43,364, police said on Thursday.

Assma Galuta of Ottawa has been raising alarm bells about the matter for months. The 22-year-old model told Metro in July that she went to an office in unit 211 at 168 Queen St. S. in Mississauga after responding to an online ad for a Cadbury commercial audition.

She was contacted by a firm called Casting Toronto and, on May 15, met a man who went by the name of Mike Hertzberg. That is one of the aliases police say was used by Zaidi.

His office looked like the real deal, Galuta said. "He had pictures up of all these random models, a camera in a room, he had music playing," she said.

After she auditioned, she was told she had the part. But she grew suspicious when he asked her to pay about $4,000 upfront for a permit from the Screen Actors Guild–American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (SAG-AFTRA), which he told her was needed because the commercial shoot was in New York. SAG-AFTRA says no such permit exists.

Galuta says she did not pay and took a bus back to Ottawa.

Galuta says she contacted Toronto police and the Ministry of Consumer Services. Then, she posted a nearly seven-minute video on YouTube on June 20 warning people about the agency.

Messages started rolling in from other actresses who explained how they had paid him money and found themselves without work, Galuta claims.

The video was yanked from YouTube around July 20. According to a note on YouTube, the removal was due to a defamation complaint. YouTube did not disclose who made the complaint.

Galuta says while she is glad Zaidi is behind bars, at least until his Dec. 12 bail hearing, she feels bad for the other alleged victims. "I feel relieved because now it's like he can't go after any more girls out there or try to scam them."

Assma Galuta, 22, of Ottawa uploaded a YouTube video to warn actresses about a man she met on an acting audition in Mississauga who was charged last week with 15 counts of fraud. JOE LOFARO/METRO

Elusive trail

Who is Mike Hertzberg?

Assma Galuta and four other women say they met either a Mike Hertz or Mike Hertzberg in Mississauga in May at Casting Toronto at unit 211 of 168 Queen St. S.

Property manager Anh Tran said in August that a man named Hassan Zaidi leased unit 211 on Sept. 15, 2011. Tran said Zaidi also went by the first name "Uzi."

The email address Zaidi used to communicate with Tran is the same one used to send an email to Metro on July 18 denying the allegations. In the email, signed "Uzi Zaidi," he identified Century Models and other businesses as his agencies.

All five women who spoke to Metro identified a photo of a man in the Facebook profile for "Uzi Zaidi" as the man they met in unit 211 who asked for their money.

JOE LOFARO/METRO IN OTTAWA

'No connections' with Casting Toronto

Zaidi denies allegations

Metro sent a private Facebook message to Uzi Zaidi on July 17 to request an interview, as well as an email to one of his business associates to inquire about Zaidi's experience in the fashion industry.

On July 18, Zaidi sent an email to Metro in which he denied knowing Galuta and said he has "no connections" with Casting Toronto.

"Kindly refrain from publishing any such article without any proof whatsoever, which shall lead to overruling me and my associate's sanctity and shall act as a law suit if such an article is published," Zaidi wrote in the email.

On Aug. 28, Metro reached Zaidi by calling a phone number in Pakistan via Skype.

He said, "I have no comments," when asked about the July 18 email. A subsequent question was posed in regards to his experience in the fashion industry and his agency, Century Models.

"My experience in the fashion industry has been great. I had a great time over there, but I'm no longer part of it as we speak," he said.

When asked a followup question, Zaidi hung up.

JOE LOFARO/METRO IN OTTAWA

Zaidi under government's watch?

- In April 2011, the Ministry of Consumer Services laid seven charges under the Consumer Protection Act against Century Models & Talent Agency, Saroor Hassan Zaidi and two other persons.
- "Consumers were not provided with adequate copies of contracts and never received any of the products promised and paid for, and were not provided with refunds," ministry spokesman Stephen Puddister said in an email to Metro.
- The Crown later withdrew the charges against all parties except for Saroor Hassan Zaidi. His charges — improper contract, failure to provide a refund and unfair business practice — are currently before the court.

Quebec holds blood for fear of contamination

Concern at provincial blood supply agency. Tiny cracks in the packaging may have been the result of a manufacturing defect

Quebec's health minister offered assurances to patients on Thursday after the agency that oversees blood supplies in the province temporarily suspended use of some of its stock.

The problem has led to the postponement of some operations throughout the province.

"There is no contamination of the blood in Quebec," Health Minister Rejean Hebert told reporters in Quebec City.

"There is a problem with some batches of blood that could be contaminated, and we have withdrawn those batches of blood to be sure there's no problem."

Hebert insisted there is no risk to patients, adding that the agency, Hema-Quebec, has the reserves necessary to fulfill the needs of hospitals.

A Montreal health services spokeswoman said some elective surgeries at five area hospitals were delayed, including heart operations at three major Montreal hospitals.

A spokesman for Hema-Quebec said there was a problem with the equipment used to keep blood. Tiny cracks were found in some packaging used to store blood stock at a Montreal holding facility.

Laurent-Paul Menard said the blood, some of which had already been distributed to hospitals, risked being exposed to air, which creates favourable conditions for bacteria.

Menard said about 70 per cent of the agency's stock might be held for examination.

Hema-Quebec suggested the leaks in the bags appeared to have been a manufacturing defect. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Palestinians win UN statehood

Landslide. Only Israel, Canada, the U.S., the Czech Republic, Panama and four tiny island nations opposed

The United Nations voted overwhelmingly Thursday to recognize a Palestinian state, a long-sought victory for the Palestinians and an embarrassing diplomatic defeat for the United States.

The resolution upgrading the Palestinians' status to a nonmember observer state at the UN was approved by a vote of 138-9, with 41 abstentions.

A Palestinian flag was quickly unfurled on the floor of the General Assembly, behind the Palestinian delegation. In the West Bank city of Ramallah, hundreds crowded into the main square, waved flags and chanted "God is great."

Real independence, however, remains elusive until the Palestinians negotiate a peace deal with the Israelis, who warned that the UN action will only delay a lasting solution. Israel still controls the West Bank, east Jerusalem and access to Gaza and it accused the Palestinians of bypassing negotiations with the campaign.

The Palestinians still face enormous limitations. They don't control their borders, airspace or trade, they have competing governments in Gaza and the West Bank and they have no unified army or police.

The U.S. immediately criticized the vote. "Today's unfortunate and counterproductive resolution places further obstacles in the path to peace," Ambassador Susan Rice said.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu called the speech by Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas before the vote "defamatory and venomous," saying it was "full of mendacious propaganda."

Netanyahu said the UN move violated past agreements between Israel and the Palestinians and that Israel would act accordingly, without elaborating what steps it might take.

The Palestinians now can gain access to UN agencies and international bodies, most significantly the International Criminal Court, which could become a springboard for going after Israel for alleged war crimes or its ongoing settlement building on war-won land. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Domestic take

Canada considers retaliation

Foreign Affairs Minister John Baird denounced the UN General Assembly Thursday for its "utterly regrettable decision" to allow the vote.

Baird also suggested Canada will take retaliatory measures against the Palestinians for forcing the issue onto the world stage. He didn't say what, but the obvious option would be suspending aid.

Baird said Canada was voting against the initiative because "we are firmly convinced (it) will undermine the objective of reaching a comprehensive, lasting and just settlement."

"This resolution will not advance the cause of peace.... On the contrary, this unilateral step will harden positions and raise unrealistic expectations." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Internet shut down in Syria as airport battle rages on

Blackout. Cellphone service also cut, likely to block communication between rebel forces

The Syrian government shut down the Internet across the country and cut cellphone services in select areas Thursday as rebels and government troops waged fierce battles near the capital's airport, forcing international airlines to suspend flights, activists said.

The Internet blackout, confirmed by two U.S.-based companies that monitor online connectivity, is unprecedented in Syria's 20-month-old uprising against President Bashar Assad. Regime forces have suffered a string of tactical defeats in recent weeks — losing air bases and other strategic facilities — and the blackout may be an attempt by the government to dull any further rebel offensives by hampering communication.

Authorities often cut phone lines and Internet access in areas where regime forces are conducting major military operations to disrupt rebel communications. Activists in Syria reached Thursday by satellite telephone confirmed the blackout.

Renesys, a U.S.-based network security firm that studies Internet disruptions, said in a statement that Syria effectively disappeared from the Internet at 12:26 p.m. local time.

"In the global routing table, all 84 of Syria's IP address blocks have become unreachable, effectively removing the country from the Internet," Renesys said.

Envoy to Syria says Security Council key to peace

Divisions in the Security Council are blocking progress toward ending the violence in Syria, and any cease-fire will require an international peacekeeping force, the United Nations envoy for the country said Thursday.

Lakhdar Brahimi said he has the elements for a possible peace plan, but they "cannot be put together until the (Security Council) has come together and is ready to adopt a resolution that will be the basis for a political process."

N.Y. cop praised as an officer and a gentleman

Kindness goes viral.
Police officer buys boots for barefoot homeless man on frigid night of Nov. 14

A tourist's snapshot of a New York City police officer giving new boots to a barefoot homeless man in Times Square has created an online sensation.

Jennifer Foster, of Arizona, was visiting New York with her boyfriend on Nov. 14, when she came across the shoeless man asking for change in Times Square. As she was about to approach him, she said the officer — identified as Larry DePrimo — came up to the man with a pair of all-weather boots and thermal socks on the frigid night. She recorded his generosity on her cellphone.

DePrimo, speaking to reporters on Thursday, remembered the night clearly, that even with two pairs of socks on, his feet were freezing.

This screenshot taken from Facebook shows policeman Larry DePrimo giving boots to a homeless man. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The homeless man "didn't even have a pair of socks on and I could only imagine how cold that pavement was," the 25-year-old said.

Foster's photo was posted Tuesday night to the NYPD's official Facebook page and became an instant hit. More than 420,000 users "liked" it as of Thursday evening, and more than 140,000 shared it.

Thousands of people commented, including one person who praised him as "An officer AND a Gentleman."

"I have these size 12 boots for you, they are all-weather. Let's put them on and take care of you," Foster quoted DePrimo as saying to the man.

She wrote: "The officer squatted down on the ground and proceeded to put socks and the new boots on this man. The officer expected NOTHING in return and did not know I was watching." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Activists want action on tuna decline

Environmental activists depict a school of tuna during a rally outside the Japanese Embassy in suburban Pasay, south of Manila in the Philippines, Thursday. In their statement, the group demanded countries joining the ninth regular session of the Western and Central Pacific Fisheries Commission agree on conservation and management measures to address the alleged fast-declining supply of Pacific tuna. Runaway equines captured

New York City can be like a zoo sometimes, but a zebra running wild through the streets is not something you ordinarily see.

The Staten Island Advance reports a zebra and a miniature horse were spotted trotting through a shopping centre parking lot Wednesday morning in Staten Island.

Metropolitan Drape & Blind owner Zachary Osher saw the runaway equines and shared his video with the newspaper. He says the animals narrowly escaped being hit by a car.

Police say the animals were corralled and returned to a petting zoo. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When do you pay the deductible on car insurance?

Learn the facts to avoid confusion.

A deductible is the amount paid by the insured before an insurance company will pay out a claim. If the repair cost in the event of an accident is $1,000 and the deductible is $500, you will pay $500 before the insurance company will cover the remaining the cost of $500. Deductibles usually apply if you have purchased collision, comprehensive or all perils coverage.

It's a common misconception that a deductible must be paid each time a driver makes a claim; But, there are cases when a deductible is not paid. Typically, this depends on the fault determination. Using a set of guidelines called the Fault Determination Rules, insurance companies assign a score to each party involved in an accident. Here are some common examples:

You are involved in an accident where you are 100% "at-fault". If determined completely at-fault, you will have to pay the deductible on your car insurance policy.

You are involved in an accident where you are not "at-fault". If the insurance companies of the parties involved determine that you are not at-fault, you do not have to pay the deductible on your car insurance policy. Your repairs will be covered under the Direct Compensation portion of your policy, which is a mandatory coverage in Ontario.

You are involved in an accident where you are partially "at-fault". If you are determined to be partially at-fault by the insurance companies involved, you would then have to pay only a percentage of the deductible. For example, if you are deemed to be 50% at-fault, you would be responsible for paying 50% of your deductible.

Your vehicle has been hit by an unidentified third party (hit & run). This depends, if you're able to identify the person who hit your car, the loss would likely be covered under the Direct Compensation portion of your insurance policy and you would not pay a deductible. If you're unable to identify the person and you do not have Collision coverage, you may not be covered for this type of loss and you would have to pay for all damages.

Your vehicle has been stolen or vandalized. The Comprehensive portion of your car insurance policy will likely cover the damages. You will, however, have to pay the full deductible. When in doubt, always be sure to ask your insurance professional.

When shopping around for car insurance, it's important to have a deductible amount that you're comfortable dishing out. Quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com make it easy to get car insurance quotes online and your rate will be compared against over 30 insurance companies.

Cyprus widow gets closure after 22 years

Damages. Court rules government failed to carry out timely probe into soldier's death

Andriani Palma says she feels cheated for every one of the 22 years she wasn't told her husband was killed during fighting in the summer of 1974 that split tiny Cyprus along ethnic lines.

Living with the hope that Charalambos Palmas might one day return to her and her children, she lived in a kind of suspended animation, unwilling to remarry and move on with her life.

"They denied me my youth, the joys of being young, they denied me everything," Andriani, who is now 65, said.

But on Thursday a court offered her some sense of justice by ordering the Cypriot government to pay $417,668 US in damages to her and two daughters, Kalliopi and Christina, for denying them the right to know for two decades.

Army authorities buried then-28-year-old reservist Palmas along with some 30 other Greek Cypriot soldiers in a mass grave marked "unknown" at Lakatamia cemetery on Nicosia's outskirts shortly after the fighting stopped.

The soldiers were killed in heavy fighting as invading Turkish troops advanced north of Nicosia.

In its ruling, the court said the state failed to carry out a timely probe into Palmas' fate, even if it had evidence indicating that he was dead. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Myanmar. Dozens injured in mine protest

Security forces used water cannons, tear gas and smoke bombs Thursday to clear protesters from a copper mine in northwestern Myanmar, wounding villagers and Buddhist monks in the biggest use of force against demonstrators since the reformist government of President Thein Sein took office last year.

Opposition leader Aung San Suu Kyi, who arrived in the area hours later on a previously scheduled visit, said she would try to negotiate a solution.

In a statement broadcast on state television, the government initially acknowledged using the riot-control measures but denied using excessive force. In an unusual move, it later retracted the statement without explanation.

Monks and other protesters had serious burns after the crackdown at the Letpadaung mine near the town of Monywa. Protesters who oppose the mine's impact on villagers and the environment had occupied the area for 11 days.

"I didn't expect to be treated like this, as we were peacefully protesting," said Aung Myint Htway, a farmer whose face and body were covered with black patches of burned skin.

Police moved early Thursday to disperse protesters after some heeded earlier warnings to leave. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lion cub becomes teacher's pet

Most primary school classes get a goldfish to keep, a hamster or a turtle if they're lucky — but children from one village in southern Russia got to play with a lion cub.

Children in the Rostov region found the five-month-old cub Wednesday and brought it to their teacher, who kept it in the school gym, police said Thursday.

The cub had escaped from a car on the way to a zoo in Dagestan in the North Caucasus.

It has now been placed in a local zoo.

Qatar

Poet faces life sentence for verse

A Qatari poet was sentenced Thursday to life in prison for an Arab Spring-inspired verse that officials claim insulted Qatar's emir and encouraged the overthrow of the nation's ruling system, his defence attorney said.

It was the latest blow from a widening clampdown on dissent across the Gulf Arab states.

The state court's verdict is certain to bring an outpouring of denunciations by rights groups, which have called for the release of Muhammad ibn al-Dheeb al-Ajami.

White Russia

Men try to push a car on a snow-covered road in Moscow on Thursday. A record-breaking snowfall in Moscow has disrupted flights and created havoc on the roads. Forecasters say the storm will rage until Friday morning. Moscow's city hall said the Russian capital hasn't seen a bigger snowfall in November in about 50 years. The roads in the capital have been clogged since early Thursday and about 70 flights from Moscow's largest airport, Domodedovo, were disrupted overnight. In one section of Moscow's beltway the traffic was paralyzed for at least 30 kilometres on Thursday.

Moscow. Court orders removal of Pussy Riot videos from websites

The video of punk band Pussy Riot's performance in Russia's main cathedral is extremist and must be removed from the web, a Moscow court ruled Thursday.

Zamoskvoretsky court banned the video of the group's February performance, ordering it and three other videos to be removed from all websites. Prosecutors began looking into the videos after a nationalist lawmaker suggested that they insulted believers.

The performance was protesting Vladimir Putin's return to the presidency in March's election and the outspoken support for his bid by the patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church.

Pussy Riot's videos were banned under Russia's vaguely defined "extremism" law, which is supposed to restrict neo-Nazi and terrorist groups. Critics accuse the Kremlin of exploiting the law to stifle opposition and free speech.

Internet providers will be required to block access to the Pussy Riot video in a month if no appeal is filed. Russian web guru Anton Nosik told the Interfax news agency that Russians would doubtless be able to access the video anyway on servers based outside Russia and not subject to the law.

Three members of Pussy Riot were found guilty of hooliganism motivated by religious hatred in August and sentenced to two years in prison in a case that drew condemnation from many in the West.

Lotto ticket has tiny U.S. town abuzz

Powerball jackpot. Missouri town and Phoenix suburb hold the winning tickets worth $588 million US

The search is on for the newest multi-millionaires in the U.S. — the holders of two tickets that matched all six numbers to split a record $588 million US Powerball jackpot.

Lottery officials said Thursday that the winning tickets matching all six numbers were sold at a convenience store in suburban Phoenix and a gas station just off an interstate highway in a small northwestern Missouri town. Neither ticket holder had come forward.

The mystery fuelled a giddy mood at the Trex Mart just outside Dearborn, Mo., as lottery officials and the media descended on the town of 500 people.

Cashiers Kristi Williams and Kelly Blount greeted customers with big smiles and questions about whether they had bought the winning ticket. No one had come forward to claim the prize by late Thursday morning, Missouri Lottery officials said.

"It's just awesome," Williams said. "It's so exciting. We can't even work."

Karen Meyers, a server at the Cook's Corner Cafe, where the daily special was roast beef and potatoes, said she didn't believe it at first when she heard the winning ticket had been sold nearby.

"I think it's wonderful! I hope someone local won it, not someone just passing through," she said. "It's a small town where everyone is really nice."

Ouch! School staff wax legs for Uganda fundraiser

Students from a Catholic high school in Saskatoon got a lesson about the importance of thinking locally and acting globally on Thursday.

E.D. Feehan students involved in the school's social-justice group are spearheading a project to raise money for soccer equipment for 25 children in Kidera, Uganda. As part of a pep-rally, some of the school's staff got their legs waxed to raise funds for the cause.

Among them is Roy Sondershausen, principal of E.D. Feehan, who said this kind of activity is important for students.

"Our students, we would like them to reach out to transform the world all the time," said Sondershausen.

So far, the students have raised roughly $775 for the Kidera Soccer Children in Uganda.

The school's teacher chaplain, Gayle Brodie, said the money will be used to buy materials for soccer bibs, purchase soccer balls and, if possible, buy running shoes for each of the children.

Surface melt water rushes along the surface of the Greenland Ice Sheet through a supra-glacial stream channel in this July photo. Polar ice sheets are now melting three times faster than in the 1990s, but so far that's added just less than half an inch to already rising global sea levels, a new comprehensive scientific study says. IAN JOUGHIN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ice sheets playing larger role in rising sea level

Climate change. Melting ice now responsible for 40 per cent of overall sea-level rise, up from 20 per cent in the '90s

A study believed to be the most comprehensive ever done of the planet's ice sheets shows that, overall, they are melting faster and faster.

And as world leaders meet in Doha, Qatar, to discuss responses to climate change, the paper published Thursday in the journal Science shows the loss of ice from Greenland and the Antarctic is making an ever-greater contribution to rising sea levels.

"It's an observation with sufficient certainty to tell people the changes in the polar ice sheets are very much in line with what we expect those changes in climate to produce," said co-author Andrew Shepherd of the University of Leeds.

Shepherd was one of an international team of 47 scientists who combined a wide array of data from 10 satellite missions and other sources to provide the clearest picture yet of what has been happening with the massive sheets of ancient ice that help anchor Earth's climate at both ends.

Overall, the sheets have lost about 4,250 gigatonnes of ice since 1992, enough to raise the average sea level around the globe by 11 millimetres.

That may not sound like much, but Erik Ivins of California's Jet Propulsion Laboratory says it's enough to matter.

"When you have 11 millimetres of increased sea level, if you compute the amount of mass that's capable of coming on shore during storm surge, it's a lot of mass," he said. "Small changes in sea levels in certain places mean very big changes in the kind of protection of infrastructure you need to have in place."

Road map. AIDs-free generation within reach, Obama administration says

The Obama administration is releasing an ambitious road map to slash the global spread of AIDS by getting more people treated sooner and accelerating the use of other proven tools.

Thursday's report outlines how progress could continue if U.S. spending remains constant — something far from certain as congress and President Barack Obama struggle to avert looming budget cuts at year's end.

Secretary of State Hillary Clinton says the plan shows her call for an AIDS-free generation is a goal within reach.

Some 34 million people worldwide are living with HIV, and 2.5 million were infected last year.

Romney and Obama meet for lunch at White House

Private talks.
Hour-long meal marks first meeting since presidential campaign

President Barack Obama and former Republican rival Mitt Romney met for a private lunch at the White House on Thursday, their first meeting since the Nov. 6 election, fulfilling a promise Obama made in his victory speech.

The White House said the lunch focused on America's leadership in the world and the importance of maintaining that leadership position, and the two pledged to stay in touch.

"The president noted that Gov. Romney did a terrific job running the Olympics and that this skill set lends itself to ideas that could make the federal government work better, which is a passion of the president's," White House spokesman Jay Carney said.

Obama and Romney's meeting was likely their most extensive private talk to date. They had only a handful of brief exchanges before the 2012 election, and their campaign interactions were largely confined to the three presidential debates.

Romney adviser Eric Fehrnstrom called it a "very friendly lunch. They spoke about some of the big challenges facing America, and it gave Governor Romney the opportunity to personally congratulate President Obama for the success of his campaign." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ontario economy

Biz must cough up 'dead cash': Report

A new report says Ontario businesses need to start spending the "dead cash" languishing in coffers if the province wants to prevent "slow or stagnant" economic growth.

The Task Force on Competitiveness, Productivity and Economic Progress says Ontario's economy can no longer afford for companies to hold onto "larger cash balances" instead of investing the money to trigger more productivity.

"Companies need to step up their efforts to grow the economy, and counterbalance risk by producing higher returns," urged the 74-page report released on Thursday, titled A Push for Growth: The Time is Now.

The report states...

"Given the higher level of cash balances, this is the time ... for companies to innovate and invest."

Turkish delight. Air Canada to launch direct flights to Istanbul

Air Canada is introducing direct service next summer to Istanbul, Turkey and will use two new Boeing 777 aircraft to expand its reach into the lucrative Asia-Pacific market.

Year-round service to Istanbul three times a week from Toronto will begin June 4 and serve as a gateway to Central Asia, the Middle East and Africa with alliance partner Turkish Airlines.

"Istanbul and Turkey is growing incredibly fast. The traffic that we have been carrying to date via our European partners we feel warrants now a non-stop service," chief commercial officer Ben Smith said in an interview.

Air Canada will also add a fifth destination in Asia from Toronto by launching non-stop, three-times-a-week service to Seoul. The flights will complement existing service from Vancouver and provide daily departures from Canada to the South Korean capital.

Three more weekly departures between Toronto and Beijing will begin June 1, bringing the total to 10 a week. Vancouver will offer 11 weekly departures with the addition of four additional flights, including a new late night flight. Service from Calgary to Tokyo Narita will be upgraded to daily flights with the addition of two flights a week starting May 1.

The airline is focused on enhancing its Toronto hub for use by business travellers originating from the eastern United States and Canada

Same rules apply to meat for export, domestic markets: Inspection agency

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency says the same safety standards apply to meat for domestic consumption and for overseas exports, and reports to the contrary are "categorically false." The agency is reacting to a media report that inspectors at the XL Foods processing plant in Brooks, Alta., were told to ignore contamination on cattle carcasses unless they were destined for Japan.

In a 2,000-page report on the ethics of the British media released Thursday, Lord Justice Brian Leveson said the press should be regulated by a new body with much stronger powers than the current Press Complaints Commission. GETTY IMAGES FILE

New regulator needed to corral press: U.K. judge

Media ethics inquiry. PM objects to report's key recommendation, citing free-speech infringement concerns

Britain's unruly newspapers should be regulated by an independent body dominated by non-journalists with the power to levy steep fines for ethical lapses, a judge recommended Thursday after a year-long inquiry.

But Prime Minister David Cameron immediately expressed deep misgivings about a key recommendation in the report — that the new regulator be enshrined in law.

"I'm proud of the fact that we've managed to survive hundreds of years without state regulation," Cameron said.

The impasse left questions about the eventual impact of Lord Justice Brian Leveson's sweeping probe of media ethics in Britain. The inquiry was triggered by a tabloid phone hacking scandal that expanded to engulf senior figures in politics, the police and Rupert Murdoch's media empire.

Leveson said a law should be established to prevent more people being hurt by "outrageous" press behaviour that had "wreaked havoc with the lives of innocent people whose rights and liberties have been disdained."

1 Leafs worth $1 billion. The Toronto Maple Leafs franchise is now worth a whopping $1 billion, according to Forbes, making them the first team in the NHL to hit that figure. 5 Coldplay. Many fans got a rush of blood to the head when the band announced it's taking a long break from touring. "This is the last big show for three years or so," the band's leader Chris Martin said at a recent show. 7 Chris Brown. Imagine a Twitterverse free of Chris Brown? Well, that's the Christmas gift the R&B singer with massive anger issues gave us by deleting his account after sending misogynistic, violent tweets at comedian Jenny Johnson in response to much tamer tweets Johnson directed his way. 8 Milking. The new planking is milking, which involves pouring containers of milk over your head in a public place. It originated with dudes in Newcastle, England. I think I did this as a submission move during a food fight in my high-school cafeteria in Peterborough in 1988. So these Newcastle dudes totally ripped me off. They just weren't born yet to know it. Record-breaking egg

Man thinks he has smallest hen egg

A bed-and-breakfast owner who believes he has found the world's smallest hen's egg confessed he took it in his pocket to show his pals at the pub.

Paul Rae found the dime-sized egg on Sunday alongside three normal ones in his henhouse at the business he runs with his wife, Margaret, in Humshaugh, Northumberland, northeast England.

METRO

Owner's viewpoint

"After I found it I had a quick look online, then I took it to the pub. My friends said I should get in touch with the Guinness Book of Records."

Paul Rae, 52, owner of the Walwick Farm House bed and breakfast

Rae admitted he keeps his prized find more safely now. "I don't carry it in my pocket now; it's wrapped in cotton wool," he said.

Other contender

Rival egg hopes to break record first

Rae's discovery comes at the same time Harry Evans found an egg that he claimed was barely larger than a dime at his farm near the market town of Bakewell, Derbyshire, central England.

"(Evans') weighed 7.3 grams but mine was just five grams," Rae said. "It's certainly not longer than 2.5 centimetres, which his was — it's less than that in length."

METRO

Egg-laying business

Hen that laid egg remains a mystery

Now Rae is hoping to beat Evans to the record books.

"There is no category for the world's smallest chicken egg as far as I know, so I am going to try and get it recorded," Rae said.

Yet sadly he doesn't know which of his four Lohmann Brown hens, named after his wife as Margaret's Girls, spawned the now-famous egg.

Keira Knightley wears imperialist Russian style well in Anna Karenina. HANDOUT

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

To Russia, with love

Anna Karenina. Luxe setting, costumes and Keira Knightley's cheekbones make for a screenplay that felt a bit too staged

Richard: Mark, the story itself is rather simple and has been told many times, so what distinguishes this version, aside from the cast (more on that later), is the sumptuous staging. Every frame of the film drips with beauty, from the sets to the clothes to Knightley's cheekbones. But that's to be expected from a big retelling of the story. What really captures my eye — and mind — is the unconventional way director Joe Wright has chosen to tell the tale. What did you think of the mix of reality and fantasy?

Mark: I think Joe Wright, to his credit, wanted to take the stiffness out of a classic. Setting the movie in a theatre is an unusual move, which makes it feel intimate but also a bit claustrophobic and gimmicky. Perhaps he was trying to say that people in pre-revolutionary Russia were forced to play their social roles and this is the undoing of Karenina. The theatre setting allows for some breathtaking transitions but sometimes left me scratching my head.

RC: It's a risky bit of staging to be sure, but I imagined I was watching an Anna Karenina opera, with all the implied drama and grandeur, but none of the music. I think it's a brilliant piece of staging for a story that has enough passion and tragedy for two operas. What did you think of Knightley? She has a face meant to be framed by fur hats and veils, but apart from looking the part, she carefully modulates Anna's descent from socialite to outcast with grace and dignity while allowing notes of frustration and misery to seep through.

MB: Your comment about music is interesting to me because at times I thought the actors were just about to break into song! I thought Knightley, who has to carry the movie, has the evanescent presence of a great silent movie actress. It was Vronsky (Aaron Taylor-Johnson) that felt miscast. He should be fatally dashing, but he just seems callow and expressionless. He's just not seductive enough to make me believe Anna would throw her life away for him. Jude Law, on the other hand, is perfect as the wronged husband. And it took a lot of guts for him to sport that hairline.

RC: You got that right. He does leave his matinee idol days behind with that haircut. I also liked Matthew Macfadyen, whose élan and rakish charm turns the womanizing Oblonsky into one of the film's high spots.

MB: There's great wit from a screenplay by Tom Stoppard and a sumptuous production design, but in the end — wow! — can Keira Knightley rock a hoop skirt.

Synopsis

Russian writer Leo Tolstoy's classic story set in imperialist Russia begins with a family in tatters because of marital transgression. St. Petersburg aristocrat and socialite Anna Karenina (Keira Knightley) travels to Moscow to visit her womanizing brother Oblonsky (Matthew Macfadyen) and his long-suffering wife Dolly (Kelly Macdonald). Her counsel saves their marriage, but the trip proves to be the undoing of hers.

JUMPSTART HAS GIVEN OVER 500,

JUMPSTART INVESTS $12 MILLION ACROSS CANADA

Canadian Tire Jumpstart has reached a monumental milestone: The national charity has helped more than 500,000 children across Canada between the ages of four and 18 take part in organized sports and recreation since its inception in 2005.

"This is a celebratory and significant milestone," says Bal Gosal, Canada's minister of sport. "Physical activity and access to sports for our kids is key to a healthier, stronger country. Canadian Tire Jumpstart is making a real difference in the lives of many young Canadians."

Thanks to generous donations as well as support from the Canadian Tire Corporation, dealers as well as vendors, Jumpstart has helped half a million kids participate in 78 different activities, from swimming and hockey to football and dance. By the end of 2012, Jumpstart will distribute $12 million back into Canadian communities to help kids who otherwise could not participate in having a sporting chance.

Jumpstart is unique in its ability to work in every community across Canada with 315 local chapters created and managed by volunteers and caring Canadian citizens. These chapters work closely with more than 2,400 community partners to identify families with financial needs whose children would benefit from participating in the programs. It is a perfect formula for a national charity to help at the local level.

So how can ordinary Canadians help the one in three families that can't afford to pay the fees for organized sport and recreation programs? There are many ways to get involved. One hundred per cent of donations made at any Canadian Tire, Canadian Tire Petroleum or Mark's locations remain directly in your community. Or, one way this holiday season is to go online and donate to the Jumpstart Symbolic Giving Program; there's no better gift to give than the chance for a child to enrol in a season of sport and recreation.

Last Christmas, instead of exchanging gifts with her Canadian Women's Hockey League Toronto Furies' teammates, goaltender Sami Jo Small and the other players pitched in to buy a $200 Canadian Tire Jumpstart hockey registration for a Canadian child who wanted to play the sport they love but wasn't financially able.

"We plan to do it again this year," says Small, the three-time Olympic women's hockey team champion who is also a Canadian Tire Jumpstart ambassador. "You don't have to spend a lot to make a big difference in a child's life."

The momentum behind Jumpstart is awe-inspiring. "Our vision is more than getting children involved in sports and recreation — it's to have a country where all kids have a chance to fulfill their dreams," says Johnny Misley, the president of Canadian Tire Jumpstart.

JUMPSTART HELPS CANADIAN KIDS' DREAMS COME TRUE

Imagine a summer without playing sports, or participating in any recreational activities. This past summer, dozens of Toronto kids between the ages of seven and 15 spent from seven to nine weeks attending basketball and cricket day camps.

"The camps were held all over the city, but our main focus is on what we deem 'priority' neighbourhoods," says Blaine Felix, a community development worker with the City of Toronto's Parks, Forestry and Recreation department.

There are 13 priority neighbourhoods, many of which house new Canadians and families with financial challenges. Within those areas, there are 22 community/recreation centres.

Thanks to the generous support of Canadian Tire Jumpstart, the Parks, Forestry and Recreation department was able to staff the basketball and cricket camps. Many kids in the priority neighbhourhoods come from South Asian countries such as India and Sri Lanka, where cricket is popular.

"We have a phenomenal relationship with Canadian Tire Jumpstart," says Felix. "They're open to ideas and flexible in the ways they assist us."

For example, when Felix suggested starting a cricket camp due to a high demand for it, Canadian Tire Jumpstart didn't hesitate to lend support. "The impact that the Canadian Tire Jumpstart program has on our communities is invaluable. I am a strong supporter of the program and I am happy to help out kids from the local community where I can" states Cam Beach, Toronto Canadian Tire dealer.

"We're reaching the most vulnerable kids with the least amount of resources," says Felix. "The beauty of sport is that it's a universal language. It's a great way to meet people, and it opens doors in the communities."

One way to give this holiday is through Jumpstart's Symbolic Giving Program, which allows you to give the gift of a season of sport to a child in need. From hockey lessons for $200 to swimming lessons for $75, find the perfect holiday gift.

Gerard Butler talks Playing For Keeps and men in the throes of midlife crisis

Rom com. Actor can relate to film's character — a former soccer star who causes chaos around him

ANNE BRODIE
scene@metronews.ca

In Playing For Keeps, Gerard Butler is an ex-soccer star trying to get his life back together in small town America. HANDOUT

Gerard Butler produced and stars in Playing for Keeps, a romantic comedy about an ex-international soccer star who returns to small-town America, where his son and estranged wife live.

As George discovers and Butler knows, being famous can create problems.

"You get that as an actor in my position," says Butler.

"You can cause a bit of chaos even with the best intentions wherever you go. (My character) George is chaotic on the inside and he causes chaos wherever he goes, but he's trying his best to take the right path. That right path is often blocked by those who would like to get their claws into him because he's an appealing character and yet in himself he doesn't feel that at all. That's what's interesting about him," he says.

Catherine Zeta-Jones and Uma Thurman don't work often. How did you lure them back?

I was kind of surprised myself. They were fun roles for them to get into, they are juicy comedic crazy roles and yet they speak to you in a way that's relatable. People get those characters, where they're coming from.... That's what I loved about this movie.

What wisdom do you have for men in a midlife crisis?

For a man, it's about growing up.

You want to keep the child in you, but at the same time you've got those quick fixes and learn about commitment and sacrificing something and ultimately going beyond distraction and love (to) family (and) career. ... But that's tough because in this life we live there are so many temptations and distractions and you can't deny it, they're fun and exciting. I'm thinking, 'Yes, that's it.'

I'm finally growing up and then for a long period of time I'm thinking I have no purpose, no real maturity, and I'm not handling my responsibilities very well.

As one of the Sexiest Man Alive (2004) any words for Channing Tatum?

That was a long time ago! Just be yourself and you're judged on that. If you have to try, it's pretty sad. I'm sure Tatum didn't have to try.

Lloyd the Conqueror

Director. Michael Peterson

Stars. Mike Smith, Evan Williams, Brian Posehn

After failing an assignment, Lloyd (Williams) and his buddies beg their community college instructor, Derek (an unrecognizable Mike Smith), for extra work to pass the class. Derek agrees, but on the condition that they competes against him in his LARPing (live action role playing) league, which is in need of extra wizards and warlocks. The film's writers took advantage of the easy jokes offered by the world of LARPing and penned a clever script full of absurd characters, ridiculous scenarios and laugh-out-loud moments.

The Suicide Shop

Director. Patrice Leconte

Stars. Bernard Alane, Isabelle Spade

Patrice Leconte's Paris is so morose, pigeons commit suicide and patrons shop for apparatuses to assist in their own demise at the family-run Suicide Shop. However, the family name is threatened when the Tuvache's youngest turns out to be a happy-go-lucky optimist. Needless to say, this animated-musical probably shouldn't be shown to toddlers, but for fans of dark gothic artistry reminiscent of Tim Burton's work, The Suicide Shop serves up an entertaining 80 minutes.

The Last Movie

Director. Bruce Pittman

Stars. Beth Gondek, Nataliya Alyexeyenko, Bruce Pittman

A nervous actress lands the role of a lifetime but pays a price for her femme fatale character in Bruce Pittman's thriller and film noir homage, The Last Movie. In this film-within-a-film, director Nicholas Crawley (Pittman) remakes a classic Russian love-story-gone-wrong and casts Elizabeth Seitz (Beth Gondek) as a wife plotting to kill her husband, but as shooting progresses, it becomes clear the star's madness is anything but method acting. While the Russian narrative is stylishly executed, the present-day storyline is hindered by leaden dialogue and a predictable plot.

Killing Them Softly

Director. Andrew Dominik

Stars. Brad Pitt, James Gandolfini

Brad Pitt stalks around New Orleans as a hitman in Andrew Dominik's thriller, which drains the juice out of its underworld scenario by reminding us at every turn that it's actually an allegory about the American economy. The film is twisty and violent but also insufferably pretentious; it acts as if it's the first movie to equate crime and corporate thinking, when it's actually just the latest in a long line.

ADAM NAYMAN

Quoted

"I'm definitely past halfway... I think about it very much as a father. You just want to be around to see (your children) do everything. If I have so many days left, how am I filling those days? I've been agonizing over that one a bit like I never have before."

Brad Pitt, who stars in the new film Killing Them Softly, on his career and turning 49 in December.

The crime novels that deserve a read-through by Hollywood

From bestseller to blockbuster? In light of Jack Reacher's screen debut, here are a few other books that might make great films

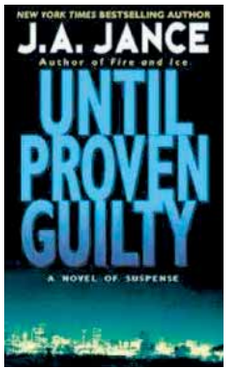
scene@metronews.ca

With Tom Cruise hitting theatres as the beloved book series-turned blockbuster Jack Reacher in December, it'll mark the first time Lee Child's popular ex-military cop of 16 novels has seen himself adapted for the big-screen. While fans will surely get their fix, we wondered what other longtime crime-novel characters Hollywood has yet to mine for movie magic. Here are few fictional characters that haven't yet made it to the big screen.

Tom Cruise stars in Jack Reacher, which hits theatres Dec. 21. HANDOUT



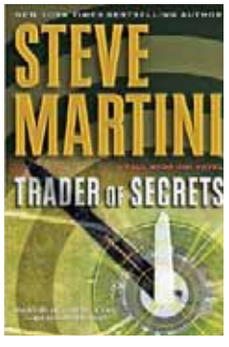
UNTIL PROVEN GUILTY

Character: Homicide Detective J.P. Beaumont

Author: J.A. Jance

Why it works: Based on Jance's first husband, Beaumont is an alcoholic, divorced father of two who lives off junk food and whiskey. According to her website, her characters are "people first and police officers second," a Hollywood sound bite if ever there was one.

Wealth of material: Twenty one novels starting with 1985's Until Proven Guilty.



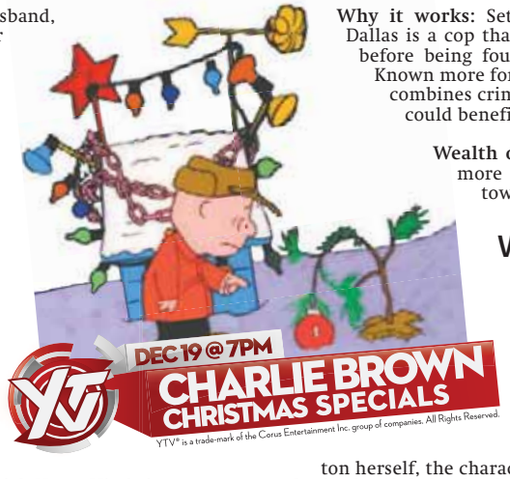
TRADER OF SECRETS

Character: Defense Attorney Paul Madriani

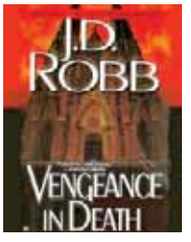
Author: Steve Martini

Why it works: With two previous TV mini-series behind it (including 2001's The Judge starring Chris Noth), Martini's brilliant character seems ripe for the big screen. Plus, his irascible sidekick Harry Hinds is Madriani's antithesis of what Watson is to Sherlock Holmes.

Wealth of material: Twelve bestsellers, including last year's Trader of Secrets.



IN DEATH SERIES



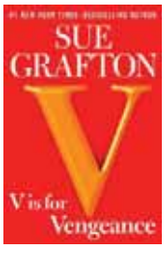
Character: Lieutenant Eve Dallas

Author: J.D. Robb a.k.a Nora Roberts

Why it works: Set in a dystopian future, Eve Dallas is a cop that has no memory of her past before being found in an alley at age eight. Known more for her romance novels, Roberts combines crime and passion in a genre that could benefit from a more feminine touch.

Wealth of material: Roberts is nothing if not prolific. With more than 30 books in the In Death series alone, Tinseltown should really take notice.

V IS FOR VENGEANCE



Character: Kinsey Millhone

Author: Sue Grafton

Why it works: Orphaned at age five, Millhone is a former tough-as-nails cop that struck out on her own. Based on Grafton herself, the character is blue-collar, rebellious and very popular in the Alphabet book series.

Wealth of material: Plenty. But even though 22 novels (including her latest, V is For Vengeance) exist, Grafton claims that she'll never sell out to Hollywood.

Women to shine at Sundance festival

Entries announced. Strong turnout by women shows more and more are breaking into the industry

The Sundance Film Festival has an apparent record lineup of female directors competing for its top honour this January.

Half the entries — eight of the 16 films — announced Wednesday in the festival's U.S. dramatic competition were directed by women for the next installment of Robert Redford's independent-cinema showcase, which runs Jan. 17 to 27 in Park City, Utah.

Going back to 1992, the best showing previously for female filmmakers was in 2000, when six of the 16 U.S. dramatic contenders were directed by women.

Sundance organizers were still trolling back to the early years of the festival's 33-year history, but this January's eight competition films appears to be most ever from women and the first time the entries have been evenly split between female and male directors.

Among the competition films from female filmmakers are Francesca Gregorini's Emanuel and the Truth About Fishes, whose cast includes Jessica Biel and Frances O'Connor in the story of a troubled girl fixated on a mysterious neighbour; Lynn Shelton's Touchy Feely, featuring Rosemarie DeWitt, Allison Janney and Ellen Page in a tale of a massage therapist who develops a distaste for bodily contact; and Liz W. Garcia's The Lifeguard, with Kristen Bell as a reporter who moves home to Connecticut and takes a job as a lifeguard.

The festival's U.S. dramatic lineup also features the first Sundance entry for Harry Potter star Daniel Radcliffe, who stars as Allen Ginsberg in director John Krokidas' Kill Your Darlings.

Male directors still dominate the big-screen, but the low-budget indie world has been narrowing the gender gap. Sundance director John Cooper said some Sundance film categories have had a nearly even split between male and female directors in the past, a sign that more and more women are breaking into filmmaking.

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

With just a few exceptions, all the major releases are now in the stores. Don't miss out on Local Natives, Holy Ghost, Walk Off the Earth

1 Breakers/Local Natives

The first single from their second album, Hummingbirds. Sounds like they've learned a few things from touring with Arcade Fire.

2 It Gets Dark /Holy Ghost

Dark modern disco that may take you back to the dark electro-pop of the early '80s. If Depeche Mode were a new band today, they might sound like this.

3 Red Hands/ Walk Off the Earth

The band out of Burlington, Ont., famous for their cover of Gotye's Somebody That I Used to Know, offers this uplifting anthem from their new EP, R.E.V.O.

Steven Tyler offers up apology to Nicki Minaj

American Idol. Minaj claims he made racist statements; Aerosmith frontman says it was a misunderstanding

Steven Tyler is apologizing — if Nicki Minaj misinterpreted his recent comments.

The former American Idol judge and Aerosmith frontman responded to Minaj's claim that he's a racist.

Minaj took offence to comments Tyler made during an MTV interview in which he said Bob Dylan would likely be immediately dismissed from this year's show.

Idol premieres Jan. 16 on the Fox network with Minaj, Mariah Carey and Keith Urban serving as new judges. The rapper called the comment racist and fired an expletive at the Aerosmith frontman.

During an interview with the Canadian entertainment news program eTalk, Tyler spoke directly to Minaj, saying: "I apologize if it was taken wrong, Nicki."

"I am the farthest from — what did she say I was? — a racist." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Up and coming pop superstar deals with inevitable comparisons, label problems

New music. The Diamonds singer, who saw some initial success in 2010, is back once again with a new album and approach

scene@metronews.ca

Upon the release of her 2010 debut LP, The Family Jewels, it was immediately apparent to anyone paying attention that Marina Diamandis, a.k.a. Marina and the Diamonds, was a bona fide international pop star in the making.

She had the acrobatic voice, indelible hooks and a crush-worthy look (more on that in a minute), but there was a knowingness about the idea of pop-stardom in general embedded in her lyrics that made her appealing to fans who take their pop with a dash of irony.

Quoted

"I think most people who work with him get his sound. Katy (Perry) was his first huge success."

Marina Diamandis
Talking about working with Dr. Luke, the man behind Katy Perry.

On her recent release, Electra Heart, the Welsh singer has doubled-down on the reaching-for-the-stars conceit, enlisting the aid of hit-making songwriters like Dr. Luke, Benny Blanco and Diplo.

It's Dr. Luke's effort on her first single, How to be a Heartbreaker, that has brought about so many comparisons to another pop star, Katy Perry, albeit with qualifiers like "edgier."

Is that supposed to be taken as a compliment or an insult?

"It's neither," says Diamandis. "It's not like an insult or a compliment, it's just not true. The thing is, with Dr. Luke, his style is so cemented, I think most people who work with him get his sound. Katy was his first huge success, so it's obvious I'm compared to her. I'm just like, 'Oh, whatever.'"

Also getting a big whatever was her record label's decision in September to delay the release of the Heartbreaker video because, well, they didn't think she looked attractive enough.

She got a call from her manager saying the label didn't like it, she explains: "'They think you need some beauty work,' he said. I said, 'I don't care if they think I'm ugly or not, they need to give me a budget if they want me to look botoxed within an inch of my life.'"

Not that she has a problem with that, she says. "I really don't mind. Everything on the album has been in spirit of that plastic pop element."

Somebody thought this woman wasn't attractive enough to be a popstar?

Moore on the mend: Is a half-her-age hunk helping her heal?

Demi Moore has reportedly moved on from her year-old split from Ashton Kutcher and is now dating 26-year-old art dealer Vito Schnabel, according to People magazine. Moore, who recently celebrated her 50th birthday, and Schnabel were reportedly "dancing and grinding all over each other" at a recent party in Jodhpur, India, thrown by Naomi Campbell. "It's really happening," a source says of the pairing. "There was a time when Vito was kind of cool with (Kutcher), so it seems a little weird." Moore and Schnabel are expected to attend the upcoming Art Basel celebration in Miami.

THE WORD
Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

With all the divorces, marriages and arrests I report on, being a gossip columnist can sometimes feel like being in Groundhog's Day — and Lindsay Lohan is my Ned Ryerson.

Yes, the troubled starlet was arrested yet again for punching another woman at a New York City nightclub around 4 a.m. on Thursday morning. Lohan apparently was "partying hard" at the club, called Avenue, and was "looking for trouble," a source tells RadarOnline. That trouble manifested itself through a clubgoer named Tiffany Eve Mitchell. Apparently, Mitchell asked Lohan for a photograph. Lohan, who was "drinking heavily and doing cocaine," said no and was "really rude about it." Mitchell kept dancing but Lohan wouldn't let this infraction go. Again, from another eye-witness: "She totally sucker-punched that girl in the face out of nowhere! Nobody saw it coming," RadarOnline.com reports. "Lindsay went wild. She was kicking and screaming, cursing at the girl and then spat at her. The girl looked like she wanted to fight back at Lindsay, but was too startled by all the commotion to react."

So, the cops were called. Lohan was spotted attempting to leave the club, hopping into the passenger seat of her car before cops pulled her out and arrested her. Lohan was heard yelling, "Are you kidding me?" as she was led away, a source says.

She was released four hours later and given a citation and a court date. Being a refined wordsmith, I'm not good at math, but by my calculation, that is probably her one millionth court appointment to date.

Halle's den of drama for sale, but she's waiting for the Berry best offer

Halle Berry is reportedly selling the Hollywood Hills mansion where her recent Thanksgiving celebrations ended in a brawl between fiancé Olivier Martinez and ex-boyfriend Gabriel Aubry, according to Hollyscoop. But the Oscar winner isn't unloading it because of the recent bad memories. Berry secretly listed the five-bedroom, 5,900 square-foot home a couple of weeks before Thanksgiving and received an $11 million offer last week, but she's holding out for more.

Two and a Half Men star to return to sitcom after slinging mud

Despite making news with a video in which he called Two and a Half Men filth and urged viewers to stop watching, Angus T. Jones will be returning to the hit sitcom when production picks back up in January, according to TMZ.

"Angus expects to report to work after the holiday break," a source says.

"He intends to honour his contract through the end of the season."

iPad Mini — $329 and up.

MIKE YAWNEY
For Metro

Computers and tablets are always popular gifts during the holidays. Unfortunately, people are often lured by sales and promotions and fall into the trap of buying the wrong one.

Here's a look at the best tablets and computers so you don't disappoint your loved one this holiday season.

iPad Mini — $329 and up
All the features of Apple's iPad in a model you can hold in one hand. The iPad Mini is the perfect tablet for those on the move. It's small-form factor and light weight means you can stuff it into any bag or purse, yet it can do everything a full-sized iPad can do.

Surface — $499 and up
Microsoft's Surface has features not seen on other tablets. For starters, it comes preloaded with Windows 8, a new take on the classic stuffy operating system. A built-in kickstand gives you freedom to prop it up on any surface, while the Touch Cover (sold separately) not only protects the screen, it doubles as a keyboard. Surface also has a USB port that allows connectivity to many devices, including printers.

Sony Vaio Tap 20 — $1,089.99, above right, MacBook Pro with Retina Display — $1,699, right.

Galaxy Nexus 10 — $399.99 and up
Behold the tablet with the amazing screen. Google's Nexus 10 sports the highest resolution on any tablet with more than 4 million pixels in your hand; that's even more than Apple's new iPad.

The beautiful screen makes it perfect to use it as an entertainment device, although it will handle any work you throw at it.

New iMac — $1,299 and up
Never has a computer looked this beautiful. Apple's new iMac is a mere five millimetres thin at its outer edge and has 40 per cent less volume than the previous generation. Beautiful yes, but it's also powerful. The latest iMacs contain third-generation Intel processors and has the option of a Fusion-Drive, which combines a traditional hard drive with Flash storage to ensure the programs you use the most launch from Flash storage at lightning speed.

HP SpectreOne — $1,299
Art meets technology. HP's SpectreOne looks like a traditional all-in-one PC, but its looks are deceiving. This Windows 8 PC features a 23.6-inch monitor that is actually a 10-point touchscreen display, so you can simply touch the screen instead of using the touchpad or keyboard.

The SpectreOne also features a Beats Audio headphone jack and HDMI-in so you can watch external devices on the beautiful display.

Sony Vaio Tap 20 — $1,089.99
Is it an all-in-one computer or a tablet?

Microsoft Surface — $499 and up.

Well, it's both. The secret is in the battery hidden in the screen. Since you don't have to plug it in, you can take the Tap 20 anywhere and use it as a tablet. Or set it up on a flat surface, pull out the keyboard and mouse and use it as a full-fledged computer. With a 20-inch screen it's certainly a large tablet, but who says that's a bad thing.

MacBook Pro with Retina Display — $1,699 and up
Spoil your eyes with Apple's latest MacBook Pro. This 13-inch laptop features state-of-the-art processors, amazing graphics capabilities and Flash storage. But the screen is the real draw here. It may be a bit pricier than many laptops in the same size category, but once you feast your eyes on the Retina display, you will have issues using anything else. Seeing is believing.

Aim for these hot video game titles

KAREN FALCON
For Metro

A screen shot from Assassin's Creed III, the third game in the series that features vast expanses to play in as well as a plethora of weapons. CONTRIBUTED

If you have a gamer on your list, we're here to help. We've played a bunch of stuff (all less than $60 MSRP) and narrowed it down to the hottest titles available this holiday season. Just remember to buy two — one for them, and one for you.

FOR THE TEEN GAMER AND OLDER:
Borderlands 2
Multi-platform: M
Best shooter! Best RPG! Best DLC (with promises of more)! Best characters! Best (and most) guns in all of video game land! We're pretty sure this is the best of everything and it's all rolled into one package of awesomeness. I don't know how else to tell you this might be "the" game to gift. It's just that good. The single player is grand, the co-op is equally as grand, and the DLC just makes me smile. Not sure if you have heard, but lootin' 'n shootin' are the most fantastic things since sliced bread. Well, that and reloading, tossing out the empty clip, and having it explode like a grenade. We don't think there's anything more enjoyable than reloading and yelling "frag out." Nope, nuthin'.

Xbox 360: M
Wake up, Master Chief! Wake up! It's time to wander around space in your Spartan suit while looking really cool, shooting aliens, and being surrounded with the best graphics we've seen in recent memory. Wow — just wow. Full of everything you expect from the franchise plus a whole lot more — this instalment is the beginning of a whole new saga to save mankind. With new enemies and new ways to track your stats, you can co-op and/or multiplayer your way through this award-winning blockbuster game all the way into 2014. And you know you can make your own multiplayer maps, too, right?

Assassin's Creed III
Multi-platform: M
Free-running is where it's at and you'll need to set aside three solid weeks of your life to do it. Set in Boston, New York, and the frontier, overflowing with incredible attention to detail, the third game in this series does not disappoint. With a new engine, vast expanses to play in, tree canopies to run through, beavers to assassinate, and ships to sail across the seas, staying incognito has never been a more enjoyable challenge. As America's first highly trained Master Assassin, you get a plethora of weapons: Swords, a bow and arrow, some rope darts, a bunch of other stuff, and a tomahawk. Tomahawks are fun — you'll see.

Forza Horizon
Xbox 360: T
Dirt tracks, music festivals, and graphics that will knock your socks off — yes, Forza Horizon is all that and more. No longer the straight-laced racing sim you've come to associate with the name Forza, this title is more like an open-world, racing fun exploring explosion. With hidden cars, 250 events, and a solid AI that takes solo or multiplayer racing into a whole new experience, new fans and old will be driving through signs, painting their cars, destroying some landscaping, and racing their dream cars against aeroplanes. Yes, I said aeroplanes. So good.

Having fun while learning

KAREN FALCON
For Metro

More hot video game titles, this time for the kid gamer (and their parents, too).

Lego The Lord of The Rings
Multi-platform: E10+
Take a little hobbit, turn him into Lego, give him a bunch of friends and a shovel, send him out into a vast Lego universe to protect a ring, and you end up with a monumental adventure full of epic battles, Lego bows, and Lego swords. With more playable characters than you can shake a wizard at, this two-player drop-in/drop-out action-adventure game can be played pretty much until your hands fall off. What's cuter than a Lego hobbit? Mom playing as Gandalf, that's what.

Lego The Lord of The Rings offers more playable characters than you can shake a wizard at. CONTRIBUTED

And then there's motion-sensitive gaming. It's like crack for kids. But it's magic — they don't know they're learning stuff but they are.

Education and gaming together, you say? How?

Specifically for the Xbox 360, it's the Kinect Sensor peripheral ($109 MSRP), and the following whack of engaging titles is readily available for you to gift in the name of fun and learning.

Kinect Sesame Street
If you take real segments from Sesame Street and add motion-sensitive gaming, you get a one-of-a-kind interactive learning experience. Rated Early Childhood, this immersive title allows your child to play catch with Elmo, count coconuts with Grover, use voice commands to take pictures, and engage with some of their other favourite Sesame Street characters.

Nat Geo TV: E10+
Rwaar! I'm a bear! You can be a bear and you can learn about bears. Never before has discovering the natural world been so interactive — right in your own living room. With the brilliant combination of live-action footage from Nat Geo WILD TV, tiny quizzes and breaks for motion-sensitive mini-games.

Dance Central 3: T
Four decades of dance moves will have your kids learning original routines while dancing (a.k.a. working out, but don't tell them that) and wearing out the carpet. Seriously voice controlled and packed with more than 40 songs from yesterday and today, Dance Central 3 also includes a brand spanking new multiplayer mode for up to eight players. Your kids need this – at the very least so you can do the hustle with them and six of their very best friends.

Inspire others with green gift options

LISA BORDEN
YummyMummyClub.ca

Instead of careening madly around stores, desperately purchasing gifts this holiday season, make the getting and giving of gifts green this year.

The green present is one that inspires people to live healthier lives, makes the world a better place, supports good people and companies, doesn't contribute excess litter and waste, and makes your getters very happy.

Here are some great ideas for the holiday season:

Making cookies and delivering them once a month is a present that may inspire others to make the world a better place.

GEORGE DOYLE/STOCKBYTE/THINKSTOCK

SHARE YOUR OWN GIFTS

Make something (cookies? bread?) and deliver it once a month. Offer up what you are good at (babysitting?) and give as a gift certificate.

GIVE A GIFT THAT ISN'T A THING

Give a membership to a museum or art gallery, or a night out at the movies, a tree to plant, a weekend away, tickets to a concert, or a donation to a favourite charity.

GIVE GIFTS THAT KEEP ON GIVING

Reusable water bottles (not plastic!) and reusable grocery bags make great gifts. Or you can even send local weekly fruit and vegetable boxes.

BE CREATIVE

Use reusable containers or bags to package. Use old newspapers, magazines or comics to wrap. Use scarves, bandanas, belts or shoelaces to tie. Use fresh herbs, old buttons or cut-up textiles to adorn.

GIVE GIFTS THAT ARE INDULGENT (BUT NOT REALLY!)

Why not give an organic hot/cold therapy pillow, or fair trade chocolate, coffee, or tea?

AND HINTS FOR THE DAY AFTER ...

Wrapping paper and ribbon from others: Re-use.

The big pile of holiday cards from everyone: Recreate (make them into note cards).

Unneeded and unwanted stuff: Re-gift.

Family and friends: Remind them that next year they can do what you have done so well this year.

CHRISTMAS UNDER A NET

GIVE THE GIFT OF JOY AND ABILITY WITH CBM CANADA

Lucinda and her family under a mosquito net.

CBM CANADA PHOTO

This Christmas Day, more than 2,500 children will die of malaria. Thousands more will survive, but they will be left with brain damage. They will live the rest of their lives fighting to control their movement, their speech and, in some cases, their ability to learn.

"It's a problem of epidemic proportions. It's a tragedy and it's avoidable," says Ed Epp, executive director of cbm Canada.

cbm is the world leader in freeing moms, dads and children from the cycle of poverty and disability, including the kind of disability left behind by malaria.

"I've met many brave and special kids living with cerebral palsy in African countries," Epp says. "For them, sitting is a struggle. So is feeding themselves. Time and time again, mothers tell me that their babies were born healthy, but they contracted a high fever in infancy."

This Christmas, just $10 will give a child like Lucinda a mosquito net. The net has been fortified with a mosquito repellent so it's extra effective. The $10 includes training on how to use the net effectively, so Lucinda isn't trapping mosquitos under the net with her or leaving gaps where mosquitos can get in as she sleeps.

This Christmas, Canadians can give a mosquito net through cbm's givejoy.ca online gift catalogue. You can even give this gift in honour of your friend or family member. For $10, one more child can spend this Christmas under the net.

What an extraordinary gift of ability and joy this Christmas.

First dinner party. Here are some tips to ensure your guests enjoy their evening

EMMA GODMERE
life@metronews.ca

Sure, beer and pizza are perennial party favourites. But treating guests to a home-cooked meal? Now there's a delicious accomplishment.

Planning your first dinner party may sound like a heaping helping of work. But if you're not the type to keep coasters and cocktail napkins on hand, have no fear: playing host isn't all that hard.

You don't even have to have a full-fledged dining room. Ottawa food blogger Kelly Brisson regularly seats her dinner guests around a large, folding card table that she easily stores away.

"Once the food's on it, no one really looks at the table anyway," she laughs.

Brisson has written about crafting simple, savoury meals on her blog, The Gouda Life, for the last four years, and is well-versed on dinner party do's and don'ts. The first thing a new host or hostess should keep in mind, she suggests, is keeping a cool head.

"You really want to spend the day enjoying the process of cooking and just setting up the table the day of the party," she says.

Reduce your day-of duties by tidying your space the day before and preparing side dishes in advance that can be easily reheated prior to your guests' arrival. When it comes to the feat of the feast, consider items that you have cooked up before, or that you're comfortable making and know taste great.

Keep friends' dietary restrictions in mind as you plan your menu. No one should feel left out or think they have to bring their own dish.

That said, if a guest offers to bring something, it's smart to accept. "Let them help you out," says Brisson.

Stock up on ice, Brisson suggests, and have some extra wine and non-alcoholic beverages on hand. Another tip: Craft a special cocktail to offer guests as they arrive. "It makes people feel welcome and it gives you something to talk about — a bit of an icebreaker."

Most importantly? Have fun. "It's just dinner — whoever you've having over is there to eat and enjoy your company," she sums up.

Preparation is one of the keys to a dinner party. ISTOCK

Easy appetizer. Roasted Curry Cauliflower Dip

1. Preheat oven to 375 F. Place cauliflower, garlic cloves, curry, cumin, cinnamon and salt into bowl. Drizzle with olive oil. Toss onto baking sheet and roast 15 minutes, until edges of florets are golden brown. Flip and roast another 8 minutes until everything is golden and fork-tender.

2. Place in food processor with Greek yogurt, lemon juice and a drizzle of olive oil and blend until smooth. Taste for seasoning and add more salt if necessary. Spoon into large bowl, add a touch more olive oil and sprinkle of cayenne pepper. Serve with veggies and pita.

- 1 head cauliflower, cut into bite-sized florets
- 4 cloves garlic, whole
- 1/2 tsp (2 ml) curry powder
- 1/4 tsp (1ml) ground cumin
- pinch cinnamon and salt
- olive oil
- 1/3 cup (75 ml) plain Greek yogurt
- 1 to 2 tbsp (15 to 30 ml) lemon juice
- cayenne pepper, to garnish (optional)

While I like having people over to the house as much as the next guy, plotting a dinner party ranks just below ironing on my list of things I can't stand doing. I know I'm in the minority.

With more and more people DIYing their homesteads into dream palaces, the inclination to have friends over to enjoy the fruits of their labours — during a nice meal accented with a glass of wine — has never been stronger.

Finding an all-purpose dinner wine that will work well with a variety of menus while appealing to a wide range of picky palates isn't easy.

Pinot grigio is my go-to grape on the white side. Italy's Santa Margherita 2011 Pinot Grigio ($16.95 to $21.49) has a crisp, refreshing, lightly citrusy personality that makes a very accommodating table mate. For a red people-pleaser, think sweet rather than dry. E & J Gallo's 2010 Apothic ($14.99 to $17.99) from California has a cocktail vibe to its ripe, just-crushed red berry fruit flavour, thanks to a supportive backbone of residual sugar. Add a slight chill and it pairs remarkably well with most main courses.

No progress after mediation

Two days of mediation was unable to push the NHL and NHL Players' Association closer to a new collective bargaining agreement.

No progress was reported after a series of meetings with U.S. federal mediators Scot L. Beckenbaugh and John Sweeney in Woodbridge, N.J.

"After spending several hours with both sides over two days, the presiding mediators concluded that the parties remained far apart, and that no progress toward a resolution could be made through further mediation at this point in time," deputy commissioner Bill Daly said Thursday in a statement. "We are disappointed that the mediation process was not successful."

Buehrle won't be bullied by pit bull ban

MLB. Buehrle and his wife, Jamie, previously campaigned against a pit bull ban in Miami

Mark Buehrle, one of the newest Blue Jays and a proud pit bull owner, says he will add his voice to those calling for an end to Ontario's seven-year ban of the allegedly dangerous pets.

"I think it's a discriminatory law," Buehrle said Thursday via conference call, adding that he and his wife, Jamie, have already made contact with advocacy groups in Ontario. "We are big spokesmen of it and we're trying to do what we can do to try to help other people out."

Acquired by the Jays earlier this month in a 12-player trade with the Miami Marlins, Buehrle has yet to arrive in the city and may not even end up living here.

But when he gets to Toronto next season, his impact could extend far beyond what he does on the pitching mound.

The movement to repeal Ontario's controversial prohibition of pit bull-type dogs has gained increasing momentum in recent years as it inches closer and closer to its goal.

Buehrle's celebrity endorsement could be what the campaign needs to succeed.

Bill 16, a private member's bill to repeal the ban, passed second reading in the legislature but was denied by the governing Liberals.

Toronto NDP MPP Cheri Di Novo, who has been leading the political fight against the ban, says as soon as the legislature resumes, she will re-table the bill and is confident the ban will eventually be overturned.

Earlier this month Di Novo told the Star Buehrle would be welcome to join their campaign. "Trust me, I will be behind him every step of the way."

When the veteran lefty signed with the Marlins last year, his family bought a house 80 kilometres north of Miami so they could live in a county that allowed pit bulls in order to keep Slater in the family.

The trouble for the Buehrles is that pit bulls are banned across Ontario, not just Toronto. The nearest haven for Slater would be across the U.S. border in Buffalo or Niagara Falls — a solid two-hour drive away.

Buehrle said Thursday he and his wife have not yet decided where they will live next year. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Sinclair snubbed for soccer award

Player of the year. Canada soccer coach says lack of knowledge on women's game is to blame for voting results

Canadian international Christine Sinclair won't be on the shortlist for this year's FIFA player of the year award. GETTY IMAGES FILE

John Herdman says it's a "travesty" that Canada's soccer captain Christine Sinclair has been snubbed for FIFA's women's player of the year award.

But the coach of the Canadian team that captured bronze at the London Olympics said a lack of knowledge about the women's game is more to blame than any malicious intent.

And besides, the coach added, international recognition isn't what his star striker plays for.

"It's a travesty," Herdman said from Vancouver. "A player who can score a hat trick in a semifinal and lead her country to the first (Olympic team) medal since 1936, the first time Canada's ever been on a (soccer) podium at one of these events, and still be one of the leading scorers in the world ... and she can't get in the top three.

"There's something wrong somewhere. But at the end of the day, you don't want to be pointing fingers at people. It is what it is."

The 29-year-old from Burnaby, B.C., led Canada to bronze in London in spectacular fashion, scoring an Olympic-record six goals to win the Golden Boot. She recorded a hat trick in a 4-3 extra-time semifinal loss to the U.S.

Americans Abby Wambach and Alex Morgan and Brazil's Marta make up the final three, after a vote by national team coaches, captains and reporters. The winner will be announced in Switzerland on Jan. 7.

Herdman voted for Sinclair, Wambach and Camille Abily of France.

Sinclair, Canada's flagbearer at the closing ceremonies in London, was suspended four matches by the sport's governing body for comments she made after Canada's semifinal loss to the U.S.

Sinclair has been on the shortlist six times in her career.

But it wasn't to be, and her supporters quickly took to Twitter to voice their outrage, some accusing FIFA of blackballing the Canadian.

NFL. Bears' Marshall says Viagra seen as performance enhancer on gridiron too

Bears wide receiver Brandon Marshall says he has heard of players using Viagra in an effort to gain an edge on the field.

Marshall made the comment Wednesday when he was asked about a growing number of suspensions tied to amphetamines, including the ADHD drug Adderall.

Marshall said he didn't know much about Adderall, but then suggested Viagra, which is used to treat impotence in men, could be seen by players as a way to boost their energy.

"I know guys, it's such a competitive league and guys try anything just to get that edge," he said. "I've heard of guys using Viagra, seriously, because the blood, it's supposed to thin. I don't know. Some crazy stuff. It's kind of scary with some of these chemicals that are in some of these things, so you have to be careful."

Marshall said he doesn't take medication "of any sort" and noted that the NFL's drug policy is strict.

"Any time you take anything over the counter, if you don't approve it with your training room, you can get popped," he said. "Some of it's fair, but some of it kind of puts you in a tough spot as a professional athlete. Because the only thing you'll see is getting busted for PEDs, but it could be something over the counter for a little sickness. You just have to be on top of your Ps and Qs."

NFL spokesman Greg Aiello said Viagra is not a banned substance and declined further comment. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lousy sales leave Bills fans in dark

Sunday's game between the Bills and the Jacksonville Jaguars will be blacked out on Buffalo television after the home team announced on Wednesday that more than 15,000 tickets remain unsold.

At 4-7, the Bills are all but out of playoff contention. The Jaguars (2-9) have lost eight of their last nine.

"It is tough," Bills running back Fred Jackson said. "You definitely want a full crowd to play in front of. But we will come out and play and try and put on a show for the fans that are in the stands."

More than 15,000 tickets also remain for the Dec. 30 game vs. the New York Jets and more than 10,000 are available for the Dec. 9 game with St. Louis, as the Bills play out the string, with more off-season changes looming. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Moose Jaw cherishing Rielly while they can

Junior hockey. Top Leafs pick carrying WHL club offensively, with Hockey Canada and NHL soon to come calling

Mike Stothers is counting the days until he has to say goodbye to Morgan Rielly.

Stothers, the coach of the WHL's Moose Jaw Warriors, expects his star defenceman to depart relatively soon.

Rielly has two options: The first, and most likely, includes an invitation to Team Canada's training camp in December to vie for a spot on the world junior championship roster.

"When he goes to the world junior, we're going to miss him — that's for sure," said Stothers, convinced the rearguard will make the squad.

Rielly's second option is an invitation to the Toronto Maple Leafs training camp, pending the end of the NHL lockout. The Leafs chose the 18-year-old West Vancouver, B.C., native fifth overall in June's draft, even though he missed 54 games in 2011-12 with a knee injury.

Stothers is also convinced Toronto will give Rielly "a good, long, hard look" if the NHL gets around to playing this season.

"I'm actually anxious to see what he could do, being as good a player as he is, playing at a higher level with higher-level players," Stothers said.

The coach had just watched Rielly orchestrate a late game-winning goal in Moose Jaw's 2-1 win over the Vancouver Giants on Wednesday.

According to Stothers, it was a typical showing from Rielly.

"We maybe get a little spoiled from what we see out of Morgs on a daily basis," Stothers said. "But I think he just showed why he's a difference-maker and a game-breaker, and a guy that is worthy of being picked fifth overall."

But Rielly is taking nothing for granted with his chances of suiting up in Russia, even though the loss of Everett Silvertips defenceman Ryan Murray to a season-ending shoulder injury has opened up a roster spot.

"There's a whole lot of good blue-liners going in," said Rielly. "So that's a pretty tough team to make. Obviously, it hurts the team with him going down with an injury, but I don't think it changes anything for me."

Rielly said he wants to focus on playing well for Moose Jaw. But he admitted it's hard not to concentrate on the possibility of playing in the world juniors.

"I just try to play my game and, hopefully, get some of the bounces," he said. "If I have the honour to go to camp, that'd be great." THE CANADIAN PRESS

After Wednesday's game, Morgan Rielly had compiled five goals and 25 assists for 30 points in 28 games with the Moose Jaw Warriors.

Not losing sleep over missed chance with Leafs

Morgan Rielly says last year's knee injury and his high draft selection have not changed him and that he doesn't want to think too much about the chance to play for the Leafs.

- "Obviously that didn't happen, but I wasn't too worried about trying to play on that team as an 18-year-old," he said. "It didn't happen but, hopefully I get that chance in the future."

Rousey gets busy on her mattress before squaring off on MMA mat

Pre-fight ritual. First woman signed to UFC says she wants lots of sex before a fight

"Rowdy" Ronda Rousey, the first woman signed to the UFC, says sex — and plenty of it — is on her things-to-do list before she fights.

"For girls, it raises your testosterone so I try to have as much sex as possible before I fight actually," Rousey said on the Jim Rome on Showtime show Wednesday night.

"Not with like everybody," she added with a laugh. "I don't put out Craigslist ads or anything."

The mixed martial arts star was responding to a question about how some boxers abstain from sex before fights.

The 25-year-old American, an Olympic bronze medallist in judo, is 6-0 in MMA with every fight ending in the first round via an armbar submission.

Quoted

"If I've got a steady I'm going to be like 'Yo, fight time's coming up.'"

Ronda Rousey, who says she tries to have as much sex as possible leading up to a fight

She won the Strikeforce 135-pound title but signed with the UFC and will help introduce a women's division to it.

The sex query was part of a 10-question format on the show. One of the other questions was "Ever been in a fight with a guy?"

She said she had at a movie theatre, "handling two guys" she said later sued for assault because "it really didn't go too well for them."

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
Life is good and getting better by the moment but for some strange reason you seem to be fearing the worst at the moment. Don't worry, whatever disaster you think is lurking round the next corner will fail to materialize.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Steer clear of disputes and disagreements that have nothing directly to do with you. If you allow yourself to be dragged in by one side or the other, you may never get out again — and you'll lose friends on both sides.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
You have worked hard to get to your present position in life, so don't feel guilty just because not everyone hasn't been as fortunate as you. Lady Luck smiles most on those who deserve it — and you do.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
An opportunity to get on in the world will arrive out of the blue today or over the weekend. It could mean a promotion but it could also mean that you pack a bag and travel to some exotic land.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
You have accomplished a lot this year but you know you are capable of more, so step up a gear and let the world know what a special individual you are. The planets will do something to give you a push today.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
You need to get over the idea that everyone sees the world the same way as you. If nothing else, it puts you at a disadvantage by making it hard for you to take on board other people's insights and discoveries.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
You must find time in your busy schedule to let partners and loved ones know how much you care for them. On the home front, especially, you seem to have been a bit distant of late. Do some fun things together today.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 2 04 - Nov. 22
Don't worry if certain people seem less than enthusiastic about your plans because most likely they are jealous and want to see you fail. You won't, of course. You'll succeed brilliantly and won't let them forget it.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
If you do small favours for other people now, they will do big favours for you later on. So, make an effort and make friends with those you interact with both personally and professionally. You may need their help soon.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
An opportunity to move up in the world will come your way today and you must grab it with both hands. It will certainly mean more work and more responsibility but since when have you been a stranger to those?

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
You need to make amends for something you did or something you said a while back. It may not have been your intention to be hurtful but the fact is you were and egos can be such fragile things.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Make sure you get the respect you deserve from those you work with. Sometimes you can be a bit too easygoing for your own good but today you really must put your own needs first.
